Entry Requirements

- No formal entry requirements but you must be working in this environment already to be able to provide the evidence required
- A job analysis will be carried out with a member of the assessment team before a place on the programme is confirmed

You will achieve

Level 3 Certificate Advice and Guidance (City & Guilds).

Course Overview

These NVQs are for you if you work in a role where you offer information, advice and guidance (IAG) to others.

The IAG can be offered within any organisation and on any topic, however it is important that you can demonstrate that you have systems and procedures in place to track the IAG given and record the outcomes.

Course Content

The course is made up of modules which you will choose to best reflect your responsibilities at work. Each level includes mandatory units – these cover the general skills required to work in this area i.e. communication, planning, development and team work.

You are required to choose optional units from a list of several given. The optional units each reflect a different area of advice and guidance work – some are directed towards the support of the provision, others to group delivery, others to the maintenance of information for the service and others are for people who work with clients in more health related areas i.e. ex-offenders, alcohol or drug issues.

How will I be assessed?

The course is assessed through the production of reports with supporting evidence, observation of you giving advice and guidance, questioning of your knowledge in this area and testimony from your workplace on your work.

What Equipment Will I Need?

You will need a computer and access to the internet.

Where will I study?

You will study in your place of work or online.

What can I do next?

You may wish to progress to the next level of the NVQ, move on to customer service or business focused NVQs or take higher qualifications in an area specific to your advice and guidance provision i.e. health care or careers.
