

Summer Reading

BOOK REVIEW

Sunrise by the sea by Jenny Colgan

After her less than fruitful life in the city Marissa Rossi must face new challenges and change her as she knew life for something completely different. As she battles her anxiety, obnoxious strangers and local know-hows in a quiet Cornish community she realises that life is more than Marisa's internal enclosure. She finds the bravery to face the day and begins to help and contribute. After all it's not all lost and life deserves a second chance as romance is lurking around the corner. Marisa brings her best qualities and asks the question to pizza or not to pizza.

This book is about how everything miserable can be turned over with bravery, kindness and love.

Agnieszka Malolepsza

